

What is Extended-Release Buprenorphine?

Extended-release buprenorphine is a long-acting medicine that helps treat opioid use disorder (OUD). Known by brand names Sublocade® or Brixadi®, it is given as a weekly or monthly injection.

It helps you:

- Reduce cravings
- Prevent withdrawal
- Stay steady in recovery

Because it works over time, you don't have to take a daily pill or medication dose, making it easier to focus on counseling, work, family and your life.

How it Can Help

Steady Medicine Every Day

Works over a week or month, making it easier to stay on track with treatment

Less Daily Stress

No need to remember daily doses, lowering the chance of missed doses

Support for Your Progress

Helps you stay stable while working on your goals.

Who it Can Help

- Those leaving the hospital, rehab or jail
- People already doing well on buprenorphine and other medications
- People who want simple, private treatment

Whole-person Care at BHG

BHG's care teams work with you to create a treatment plan that fits your needs. Medications are combined with counseling and recovery support, giving you proven, evidence-based care. If you think extended-release buprenorphine may be a good option for you, talk to your BHG medical provider.

Your Path to Recovery Starts Here

Call 866-763-2244 anytime, day or night, or visit BHGrecovery.com. Our team is ready to help you take the next step.